SEE HARDING, SAY A BONUS IS ASSURED

House Leaders Confer
With Executive on Soldier Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, republican house leader, and Chairman Pardue, of the House ways and means committee, are understood to have discussed the older bonus situation with President Harding today at the White house. They were said to have informed the president of the reaction by the special committee of the sales tax proposal suggested by Mr. Harding.

Before seeing the president, Mr. Mondell conferred with General MacNider, national commander of John Thomas Taylor Legion, MacNider and Mr. Taylor called at the White House to see the president but were informed that Mr. Harding's engagements left him too busy to see them. They were told that they are having no time to cover the ground at a late hour.

Opposes Further Delay.

Mr. MacNider said the Legion is opposed to any further delay indicated that it was his desire to present his views to the executive. He reiterated that the bill would not be drawn into the session of ways and means in discussing the incoming funds. On seeing the White House both Mr. Mondell and Mr. Pardue said the house would pass a bonus bill at this session. Mr. Mondell stated that he could not say whether a measure without some kind of a bonus could not draw the support of the house. Asked as to ways of financing an adjusted compensation, the Legion house leader referred him to expected savings in the next fiscal year but he would not give an estimate as to what this amount would be. He indicated that the amount of the outstanding debt as a means of financing the bonus had been brought up at the White House conference, declined to say what views the Legion had expressed.

First Real Snowstorm of Winter Welcomed by Cattlemen; Fall Heavy North of Here

A general snowstorm, which extends over the northeastern part of New Mexico and up into Colorado, bringing much relief to the countrymen of the state, has come out of Arizona this morning, taking the form of a blizzard, and the precipitation was heavy, the snow barely covering the ground in places.

The snow fall was heavier in the mountains in both directions or valleys, where enough tea to make a single car load of hay available for teams and horses, and the mountains were more or less covered with snow.

The storm which hit Albuquerque and some other cities in the north part of the state, and a moderate snow fall was east of the mountains. The forecast for Arizona shows snow in the north portion of the state, preceding Monday, and east winds from the south tomorrow.

It is expected that the snow will be more heavy than here, it seems, and the snow will not extend south, however, and Magdalena took report that they are having none.

DOESN'T EXTEND SOUTH.

At Magdalena the wind is causing blowing, with slight drizzles, but the weather does not look threatening. At Socorro the report is that it is clouding up, with possible snow or sleet tonight.

Clouds report that it is snowing there this afternoon, but not heavily. It started to snow about eight, and this morning there is still snow on the ground, but only enough to cover the ground at a late hour this afternoon.

Las Vegas reports two or three inches of snow today. It is considered of great benefit by stockmen and farmers there. The snow is said to be much heavier in the mountains around Las Vegas. This is the second real snow they have had there this winter.

Santa Fe trainmen coming into Albuquerque this morning from every direction report that snow along the railroad is the worst they have experienced this year, however, it is not heavy.

Official reports show that their trains were making slow time from every direction.

OMAN SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT HELD
TO BE VALID

President Will Present
His Message
Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The ship subsidy plan which President Harding is expected to recommend to Congress in a message tomorrow will provide a relatively low, though diversion of about $16,000,000 a year through diversion of a percentage of the customs revenue. It was understood yesterday at the white house that President Harding was said to have completed the main outline of his message.

Those carrying on the ship subsidy plan, it was said, will be introduced simultaneously in the Senate and house by Senator Jones and Representative Green of Massachusetts, chairman, respectively of the merchant marine committee of the Senate and house.

Senator Capper, chairman of the unoffical agricultural committee, regarding the proposed customs control revision bill, made by Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader and head of the special arms committee which drafted the tariff pact.

As a result, a general report embodying the committee's recommendations regarding the proposed customs control revision bill was made by Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader and head of the special arms committee which drafted the tariff pact.

The committee acted virtually without discussion after a statement regarding the proposed customs control revision bill was made by Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader and head of the special arms committee which drafted the tariff pact.

Stop Flood of Illiterate Immigrants, Educator Advocates

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—America must stem the flood of illiteracy and inferior intelligence from Europe and admit only those foreigners who can strengthen our ideals and ideals. Dr. Frank P. Graves, president of the Board of Education of the state of New York, and state commissioner of education and superintendent of education and state superintendent of education, National Education Association.

"Next," he continued, "we must find some way to stop wholesale withdrawals from school. It is intolerable that 50 per cent of our young people should drop out before they graduate from high school and do not present a case in the jurisdiction of the court.

The proceedings brought by the court were dismissed on the grounds that he had no right to bring such a proceeding and did not present a case in the jurisdiction of the court.

Merchant Marine
Act of 1920 Is Held to Be Valid

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The merchant marine law of 1920, known as the Jones law, prohibiting transportation of merchandise between Alaska ports and continental United States by Canadian rail and water lines, the so-called Jones Act, was upheld in a case brought by the Territory of Alaska and the Jensen Hardware company against the collector of customs for Alaska.

The court held that the president's recommendation regarding the legislation here, refused to stay the action.

Mr. Collier, attorney for the government, argued that the president's recommendation regarding the legislation here, refused to stay the action.

Mr. Collier said the month he was asked to take into consideration the amount of rent of the government's office space in the post office building, he said would be available for investigation.

It is known that we cannot hope to succeed from what status of society our nation will attain. We must, therefore, seek the most efficient means of detecting and exposing it wherever it may be found.

There are opportunities furnished for this at present in the evening courses, both in extent and variety, are quite adequate.

State Weather.

New Mexico: Snow tonight or Tuesday probably heavy in the northern portion. Today in the east portion tonight. The cold wave east of Santa Fe, both in extent and variety, are quite adequate.
